School Bus Rental System Explained

"Because in the past considerable confusion has prevailed in connection with campus organizations requesting the use of School District buses, the college business office has prepared a form on which such a request should be made," states E. A. Stebbins, business manager.

Those who desire to arrange for the rental of the School District bus must get one of these forms from the business office, from Miss Hill, or from the student body office.

SIGNATURES REQUIRED

A number of signatures will be required, but such signatures are necessary because so many offices are concerned. The reason for requiring the signature of the driver is to make sure that an approved driver is available for the date the bus is needed. The signature of the faculty adviser is required for clubs only. This means that members of the staff or officers of the associated students will not be required to secure the signature of an adviser. The business manager's signature will suffice in such cases. When this form, properly completed, is presented to the superintendent of the Monmouth city schools, he will know that the proposed use of the bus has the approval of all the necessary parties on the campus and that funds are available for paying for the bus. He will know, too, to whom to send the bill.

MILEAGE RATES QUOTED

Students should understand that the college does not own any of the buses which are used. Through the generosity of the local school board the college is permitted to make arrangements for the rental of the buses for transportation of student teachers to and from Independence and for athletic and other trips. The mileage charged for such use is 17½ cents per mile.

Each group desiring to use the school district bus must arrange for its own driver. However, the school superintendent will approve the use of the bus only if a regular licensed driver is available for the trip. The driver must be paid by the organization sponsoring the trip. This is true, also of the mileage cost of the bus.

Charles E. Smiths Announce Heiress

Proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Smith, who greeted on December 12, 1948, a new arrival weighing eight pounds, 11 ounces.

Christened Kathleen Dale, the baby raises the number of Smith children to three. Other juvenile members of the Smith clan are, Steve, age two and one-half, and Bruce, age one.

Chuck and his wife Bernice, live in apartment 5-C in Vets' Village. A senior this year, he plans to graduate in June. This term he is student principal in Miss Wolfer's office.

Claggett Has Tonsillectomy

Miss Sylvia Claggett, instructor in the art department, underwent an operation for the removal of her tonsils during the Christmas vacation. She is now back at work, feeling much better.

'Campus' Sells At Maple Hall

The popular Campus Magazine, which covers campuses large and small throughout California, Arizona, Nevada, Oregon, and Washington, is on sale for 25 cents in Maple Hall each month. OCE has 600 words in the December issue and if a quota of 100 magazines is sold this month, a three-page spread complete with photographs will be printed in the next issue.

Campus includes personal bits of information and the latest blooming ideas from all participating colleges.

The magazine staff welcomes any school talent for writing or modeling. All advertising is free if it is centered about student activities.

Draft Board Rules Single Deferment

Information received in the Polk County Selective Service headquarters indicates that students enrolled in college who have received deferments may be called for induction despite those deferments.

This call to report for induction will not necessarily mean that a student will be inducted but is the result of changes in the deferment machinery as set up by the Selective Service.

The following is a quotation from a recent letter received at the Polk County Selective Service headquarters:

"Postponement of induction shall be given only after request is made by registrant on receipt of his Order to Report for Induction and local board has received evidence that registrant is pursuing a full time course of instruction in a satisfactory manner. One postponement only—to end of the academic year or until registrant ceases to do satisfactory work, whichever is the earlier."

The Selective Service headquarters at Dallas has already received letters on most of the OCE

Training School To Re-open February 1

Mr. Ellis A. Stebbins, business manager of the Oregon College of Education, has announced that all classes will be able to return to their rooms in the Monmouth training school by the first of February with the exception of the kindergarten, and the first through fourth grades which will be placed in the new wing. Four rooms have already been completed, and are being occupied by grades taught by Mr. Van-Maanen, Mr. Ruckman, Mr. Lawrence, and Miss Stanbrough.

Registration Figure Reaches 462 Mark

Registration reached 462 students at the end of January 6th, in comparison to 446 students registered last year at that time, according to R. E. Lieualien, OCE registrar.

Of the 462, men number 252 and women, 210. A total of 340 are in teacher training while 122 are doing lower-division work. There are 35 new students this term.

Veterans show a slight decrease—179 as compared with 200 registered last year.

'Charley's Aunt' Next Production

According to George Harding, head of the speech department and mentor for college dramatics, the perennial favorite "Charley's Aunt" has been chosen for presentation to the student body at a later date.

This rib-tickling farce (a version of which, "Where's Charley," is now playing on Broadway and starring Ray Bolger) has been a constant hit with audiences throughout the nation.

Announcements of tryouts will be made soon.

The remodeling has been very complete and the training school is hardly recognizable as the same building. Rooms are much larger, and very modern in design. Acoustical ceilings and asphalt tile floors have reduced echoes and noise to a minimum; grey-green chalk boards replace the glaring blackboards, and indirect lighting, along with the light walls and woodwork, eliminate the glare from desk tops almost completely.

Each room has its own fountain and sink, storage space, and a small room which can be used as library or recreation room. Desks, tables and chairs are no longer fixed to the floor, which facilitates informal arrangement of classes. In most of the rooms, an amplifier system for record playing has been installed. The library and kitchen have both been made much larger, and more efficient.

In the new wing, which is now scheduled to be completed by March 15, the situation has been made as ideal as possible. The sun will furnish most of the light, and non-glare glass is being put in the windows. The rooms are much like the others, except that there are more windows, and the kindergarten room has a fireplace. Panel heating has been installed. Each of these rooms have a glassed-in office for the supervisor and separate toilets. Plans are being made for a hard-surfaced playground which will extend behind the administration building.

Vets' Village Leads G.P.A. Roster

With a near 3.0 rating, Veterans' Village again topped the G.P.A. listings for the various housing organizations at OCE for fall term.

Below are the statistics released by the registrar's office showing the relative standings of the houses:

Veterans' Village	2.92
Jessica Todd Hall	2.64
Arnold Adams	2.46
West House	2.38

Commuters rated a 2.55. Veteran students marked up a respectable 2.70 while non-veteran scholars were close with a 2.60.

Schedules Needed

The registrar's office is making an urgent appeal to students who have completed their registration to bring back extra schedules. Many students who received schedules before the holidays again picked up schedules on registration day. Consequently, the supply on hand is practically nil and makes for inconvenience for the now-registering students.

LAMRON POLICY

It is not the policy of the Lamron staff to publish anything which might possibly transcend the bounds of courtesy or cause misunderstandings among the readers of our student publication. The staff seeks to be fair to all and to give what encouragement it can to the worthy endeavors of faculty and students on this campus.

With sincere regret, therefore, we acknowledge that the leading editorial in the Lamron of December 13 represents a deviation from this avowed policy. When in cold print, what was intended as a bit of pleasantry assumed the guise of a criticism of the Art department. Perhaps the writer of the editorial was not aware that some very expert instruction in metal work goes on in that same department. This work cannot be carried on in silence.

We appreciate the outstanding contribution which Mrs. Heath and Miss Claggett are making to the success of OCE. Truly, we are proud of our Art department. Let the words of seeming criticism be forgotten, and let us begin the New Year by making heart-felt apologies for our inadvertence. —J.F.S.

Higher Education's Problems Discussed

The present high enrollment in the institutions of the state system of higher education is the new normal situation. Enrollment, which has soared from 9,902 in 1940—the pre-war all-time high—to 17,256 in 1948 will remain at or near the present level for years to come. Although the number of veterans enrolled at the beginning of the 1948 Fall quarter has declined 1,095, the total enrollment is only 114 under last year. A continually growing Oregon is sending to its university and colleges enough post-war students to take up the slack as veterans complete their studies.

Since 1940 the population of the state has increased 49.6 per cent, the population of the state's institutions of higher education has risen 80.7 per cent, the enrollments in elementary schools throughout the state are up 10 to 200 per cent. The full impact of the increased population will come in the second half of the next decade, again to boost the numbers attending the university and colleges of the state system.

Additional space must be provided if the job of education is to be done properly, and a carefully planned building program is being presented. This program would cost $24,000,000. Such an amount, if appropriated in a single year, would be a staggering blow to the economy of the state. For this reason the state board of higher education is requesting funds only for such projects as are of an emergency nature. Of this amount, $300,000 is for a new library building and warehouse at the Oregon College of Education.

The total amount requested from the state for operating and maintenance of the instructional units during the next biennium is $22,275,861, which is an increase of 17 per cent over the budget of the last biennium. Part of this increase is due to the increased cost of operating. Part is due to a decrease in income. Veterans will be leaving our institutions in large numbers. Their places will be taken by other students, but the shift will make a difference of $2,327,000 in Federal funds which have been available to the state during the past biennium and which will not be available during the coming two years.

The Federal government, to meet the cost of education for returning service men and women under the G.I. Bill of Rights, has contributed, in the major institutions of the Oregon state system of higher education, $222 per year, compared with the $66 paid by non-veteran students who are residents of the state. The fact is, then, that as each veteran leaves the institutions of the state system, to be replaced by a non-veteran student, there is a loss of $156 in income which must be provided by the state to maintain the level of instruction for the sons and daughters of Oregonians.

To this loss of $2,327,000 from Federal funds must be added $1,242,281 which has been spent from accumulated balances during the past two years which must be added to the new budget if the present levels of operation and instruction are to be maintained.

Of the total budget, 97.28 per cent is devoted to maintaining the present instructional and op-

Clark's Column

No matter how confident a person is that his mode of life is socially, morally, and economically correct, there comes a time when the individual is in for a rude shock. Regardless of all his confidence to the contrary, he finds that all is not well within his small sphere. Usually this discovery is made known to him by the actions of others. And usually, "others" refers to some female acquaintance, relative, or wife of the poor deluded victim.

For the span of my modest life, I had entertained definite convictions on the subject of shopping; i.e., the (I thought) comparatively simple process of purchasing an article from a merchant or mercantile establishment. To my unenlightened mind, shopping was a light, irresponsible gesture which merely entailed entering a store, seeking the article wanted, purchasing it, and departing with the pleasant glow of a man who has done his duty well.

Not long after my marriage, I was abruptly shown the ignorance of my mind, the smallness of my scope, the "barbarianism" of my culture. One shopping spree with my wife changed my entire outlook, and subsequent expeditions to the realms of commerce have only deepened my awakened sense of inadequacy.

Believe me, shopping is a complicated thing! Not only must a conscientious shopper cover every store in town, but one must spend long hours trying on expensive creations, to emerge at last with a pair of socks. One must never have one's mind on the thing one is going to purchase, with the purpose of quickly completing the business and returning home. Oh, no! One must be thinking about what one will wear tonight, perhaps changing the idea of the purchase as traffic lights change.

The poor, unenlightened male who incautiously protests against this magnificent system (which seems so unnecessary and complicated to his simple mind) is liable to meet withering stares, if he is given recognition at all. O, ignorant male! You must respect the intricacies of shopping, for you are totally untutored in the art. Look, listen, and learn with awe, for you are in the presence of that most impressive of Nature's wonders: a woman shopping.

erational level and the present volume of statewide services. Only 2.72 per cent is earmarked for improving present services or adding new ones and the entire amount of such expansion is in the field of agriculture. Of the total increase for the new biennium, more than 85 per cent is necessary because of automatic increases over which the state board of education has no control—the loss of Federal income, rises in prices of supplies and equipment, civil service wage requirements, and the like.

Chapel Services Resumed Jan. 21

Chapel services this term will continue to be the first and third Fridays of each month at 11 a.m. Morning classes will be shortened 15 minutes on these days.

A schedule for the term is listed: January 21, February 4, February 18, March 4, March 18.

Colorado Claims Five OCE Students

Winter term sees five vacancies in the OCE student body. Lured by the call of the Colorado State Teachers college, George McCormick, Bruce E. Hamilton, Tom Ward, John Rodgers, and Ronald Wallis left during the Christmas holidays for Greeley, Colorado, location of the college.

All five men have been on the campus for a number of terms and are well known here at the college. Bruce E. Hamilton participated in many activities fall term, only one of which was his service as co-chairman of the homecoming committee. John Rodgers played football for the Wolves last term.

Staff & Key

Now that our constitution has been amended, as of our first meeting this term, to the effect that we are officially able to initiate any girls who have been on the campus one term and eligible according to standards set by the club, we would like to acquaint old and new students with our service organization.

Our name, "Staff and Key" is derived from the following meanings: the "staff" is to guide us along life's way, and the "key" is to open the hearts of others.

Club colors being green and gold, the official insignia for Staff and Key is a golden staff and key crossed and set within a green octagon.

The principles upon which new members are chosen are: They must be outstanding in leadership, cooperation, friendship, character, loyalty and scholarship. Any girl may be eligible for election providing she has the grade-point average of 2.5 for the term previous to the election.

Social events sponsored by Staff and Key traditionally have been: the All-American dance in fall term, the nickel hop or progressive dance during basketball season, selling refreshments at games, Print and Cord dance in the spring, ushering at student body programs and at other functions.

A lovesick, but suspicious sailor, bought name stationery for his girl with her name and address imprinted thereon.

"Will that be all?" asked the salesgirl.

"No, just to be sure, you'd better print 'Dear Herbert' on each sheet."

Dorm

Dope

Registration is over and as the dust clears we find that as usual each new term brings new classes, new activities and, best of all, new friends to whom we wish to extend a hearty welcome to Todd hall and to the Oregon College of Education. Todd hall residents are proud to greet our new girls whose names are as follows: Olene Clancy, Portland; Lucille Keady, Klamath Falls; Hazel Buckingham, Monroe; Mary Ann Keary, Portland; Mrs. Delpha Chatfield, Portland; Pat Helgesen, Hillsboro; Eleanore Spiekerman, The Dalles; Elizabeth Vincent, Jewell; Gwen Wooten, Eugene; Mary Jean Bevins, Portland; Beatrice Bridenstine, McMinnville; Shirley McKenzie, Sixes; Shirley Cram, Portland; and returning, Doris Craig, Odell; and Audrey Blackburn, Rufus.

Congratulations and much happiness to Mr. and Mrs. Alan Petersdorf (Louise Kinney), Mr. and Mrs. George Jensen (Jane Yant), and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Yeager (Carmen Westenhouse).

A new stamp-vending machine has been installed in the social office for the convenience of everyone here.

Sign recently seen on third floor: "Hazel, the Unofficial Travel Bureau, Come In!" Hazel Buckingham is the girl and she has been in 42 states as well as Canada, Mexico, and South America.

Georgia Priebe was maid of honor at the wedding of her girl friend over the holidays. The ceremony was performed at Chiloquin, Oregon.

Santa Claus was especially good to Trudy Kohler who received a 17-jewel, gold watch from her brother who is serving in Uncle Sam's air force in Switzerland.

Rosemary Campbell journeyed to Burley, Idaho, to spend the holidays there with her family while Gale Jacobs observed the Cotton Bowl game in Dallas, Texas. Where did you get the tickets, Gale?

A new perfume is now being produced in the dorm in the form of protozoa culture, upon the suggestion of Dr. E. F. Barrows, biology prof.

Here is a warning to new girls. Beware of Joanna Clemensen, fire chief! She is liable to pop a drill at any hour of the day or night, usually night, and if you don't believe it, just remember that winter weather and women's thoughts often change.

New, Old Students Join ASB Ranks

Familiar personalities back on the campus this term after varying lapses of time include: Wilfred C. Wasson, Roger Christensen, Marjorie Albright, Harley Branigar, Maurice Gentle, Neva Green, Chester Michael Hogan, John Penn Letterman, Shirley McKenzie, Donna Ila Miller, Bessie Maholt, and Danton Eckloff Rhoades.

New students who have registered thus far hail from almost every section of the state while some are from out of state. Now full-fledged members of the OCE student body for the first time are Daniel W. Archer, Mary Jean Bevens, Beatrice Elaine Bridenstine, Hazel E. Buckingham, C. J. MAY WE PRESENT:

JIM BEACH

who names Northome, Minnesota, as his natal place. Jim attended high school in Northome where he played basketball for a couple of years and served as president of his senior class.

He has two sisters and one brother, and at present makes Portland his home. A senior this year at OCE, Jim is Financial Secretary of the Associated Students, a member of Theta Delta Phi and Phi Beta Sigma, and he plays intramural basketball for the House of Burglars. He likes basketball and dancing and is especially interested in radio.

Asked about his dislikes he thought a minute and then stated clearly his opinion of the valley's eternal rain. He also mentioned that he disliked Clarence McDonald, but as "Mac" was present and appeared to think the remark was facetious, little credence seems to be attached to this statement.

On world affairs, he remarked: "I was in the navy three years during the last war. If we have another fracas I plan to get as many dependents as possible."

Jim served as a radio man aboard a navy L.S.T.

He plans to graduate in June with a B.S. Degree in Elementary Education and expects to teach science and math in the upper grades.

ROSEMARIE FLOYD

a junior here at OCE who comes from the beautiful Klamath valley. Born at the Klamath Agency, Rosie has a brother at the University of Oregon, another at Oregon State college, a sister whose husband also attends Oregon State, and, of course, her brother Bill who is well known on the OCE campus.

Miss Floyd went to high school at Chiloquin where she won the PTA cup, was editor of the school paper, and ranked as salutatorian in her graduating class. ("It was a small school," she laughingly remarks.)

When queried about her life among the Klamath Indians, Rosie grinned and stated that she swings a mean tomahawk. Rosemarie is an outdoor girl, it seems, very interested in girls' youth organizations such as Campfire. She enjoys camping out and has a firsthand knowledge of Indian lore and customs.

Outside of her family, which she places first on her "like" list, Rosie says she is most fond of murder mysteries. She admits, however, that she often peeks in the back of the book to see who "done it."

At present a member of Staff and Key and A.W.S., Rosemarie has been connected with student activities among which were Campfire, Choir, Crimson O and the Lamron.

This term she is practice teaching in the kindergarten under the supervision of Miss Kane. Planning to graduate in the spring, she expects to spend the summer in Colorado, returning to Oregon to teach in the fall.

Draft Policy Told

(Continued from Page One) students who are eligible for induction, indicating that they are pursuing a full time course of instruction. These letters will be satisfactory for purposes of the above announcement. However, it will be necessary that the registrant formally apply for deferment when he receives his Order to Report for Induction.

The responsibility for reporting any change in status rests upon the registrant. Therefore, if a student who has obtained a deferment based upon college enrollment should withdraw from school, he must report that fact to the Selective Service headquarters without delay. Students who are called for induction during the summer session may apply for deferment ending the following June. For clarification purposes Selective Service considers the academic year to begin with the summer session and end with the following June.

Having finished her exam, a soph coed turned her paper over and started to doodle.

The teacher looked over, commented: "If you're drawing a picture of me, you get an automatic F!"

"Oh I thought it was me," said the prof wearily.

IVCF Representatives Hold Conference

During the Christmas vacation 10 representatives from Oregon colleges and universities as well as about 1200 students from more than 250 campuses in the United States and Canada met on the University of Illinois campus at Urbana for a missionary conference, December 27 to 31. The main purpose of this conference, which was sponsored by the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship and its affiliated organization, the Foreign Missions Fellowship, was to present the need of and preparation for Christian missions.

Miss Ruth Denney and Miss Elsie Funk attended the conference from OCE, traveling by car with a group of Oregon students.

Cupid Strikes Again At OCE

The Yule-tide season this year seemed to be marked in red ink on Cupid's calendar. The number of OCE students who were wed during the joyful time is truly surprising.

Among those happy couples who helped place their minister in a higher income bracket were: Louise Kinney, Al Petersdorf; Barbara Kirsch, W. Bruce Hamilton; Dorothy Brookman, Jack Jenck; Carmen Westenhause, Lowell Yeager; Jane Yant, George Jensen; Marge Tracy, Jerry Steinmetz; Carol Cook, George McFarland.

As OCE steps into the last lap of the basketball season and several new faces are seen in the rooting section it seems that a brief resume of the games played thus far this season would be relevant. Part of this should be taken with a pinch of salt and with the admonition that past records do not always correctly anticipate the future.

The Wolves made their roaring basketball debut on December 1 when they defeated Reed college 73 to 32 in their first conference game. It was Harrel Smith who rated top billing in statistics with 13 points. Two days later it was Smith, McKee, and Palmer with 11 points each, who led the OCE hoopsters to a 57-50 victory over Clark J.C. Then the Wolves took their first fall and it was a hard one.

On December 7 they toured to Salem to tangle with the strong Willamette university team. The Johnson combination proved too strong for them, however, and they suffered a humiliating defeat with a score of 61 to 32. In the next game it was nip and tuck all the way with Marv Hiebert leading the Wolves to their second victory over the Clark Juniors. The final score was 60 to 55.

Then began a losing streak which, at the time of this writing, has not yet been broken. On December 14 it was a hard-fought battle with the Pacific university Badgers which left Bob Knox's boys trailing 49 to 50. This was followed two days later with the game the Wolf fans will not soon forget. It was the game with Humboldt State and the Wolves were playing one of their strongest games of the season. It was a last minute Humboldt rally which gave the visitors the narrow 60 to 58 victory.

During the holidays Bob Knox took his squad south to meet the SOCE and the Oregon Vocational School basketball teams. They dropped both games with the respective scores reading 64 to 53 and 55 to 47.

The new year started with the team and the weather cold. The seemingly futile efforts to make many of their attempted lay-in shots kept the Wolves constantly in the rear and left them trailing at the end of the game with Vanport with the score board reading Vanport 64, OCE 60. The Wolves looked stronger Wednesday night of last week when they met the Salem Page-Woolen team in an unscheduled return game. An early OCE rally took the Wolves from their trailing position of 0-10 and put them in the lead at the half with a score of 31 to 24. It was the Wolf center of the 1947-48 season, Jack McElravy, who made 23 points during the game and who sparked the Page-Woolens to a 61-52 victory.

This week will see the Wolves meet two of their strongest opponents in two home games played on Tuesday and Friday nights. One of the visiting teams, the Willamette university five, will be favored to win. However they were also the favorites last year when they met the Wolves at OCE and we all remember the game and the outcome. Too much emphasis should not be put on the score of these two teams' last encounter.

Tuesday night's game against the Linfield Wildcats also promises to be a tough one. The Wildcats were considered the underdogs when they met the Bearcats at McMinnville last Friday night but they held their own all the way and it took a last-minute Willamette rally to put the Salem boys out of the danger zone. The final score was 51 to 44. Five of these points came to the Bearcats in the last two minutes.

Following is the schedule of remaining Wolf games:

Date	Opponent	At
Jan. 11	Linfield O.	Monmouth
Jan. 14	Willamette	Monmouth
Jan. 21-22	Seattle U.	Seattle
Jan. 28-29	EOCE	Monmouth
Feb. 4-5	SOCE	Monmouth
Feb. 8	Reed C.	Monmouth
Feb. 11	Vanport	Portland
Feb. 14-15	EOCE	LaGrande
Feb. 22	Pacific U.	Monmouth
Feb. 25-26	Seattle U.	Monmouth

Wolves Batter Quakers

The OCE Wolves brought their five-game losing streak to an emphatic halt last Friday night when they journeyed to Newberg to trounce the Pacific college team 71 to 33. It was OCE's game all the way. They stepped into an early lead of 14 to 0 in the first few minutes of the game and held the Friends to 11 points in the first half while they tallied 42 times.

The Newberg team looked a little stronger in the second half when their right forward, Hadley, led the attack with a total of nine points during that period but they were still outplayed by the Wolves and failed to close very much of the wide gap separating the two squads.

Marv Hiebert set the pace for the Wolves in the first half with a total of five field goals. One more field goal and two successful free throws in the second half made him the high point man of the game with 14 scores to his credit.

Chuck Humble played his first OCE conference game Friday evening as sub for Captain Bob McKee. Chuck made his debut on the varsity team in a practice game against the Page Woolens last Wednesday night. Chuck is a freshman and has been playing on the J.V. squad up to now.

Rollie Hamer was also seen on the floor for the first time since he suffered a knee injury in the game with Reed college on Dec. 1.

Missing in the line-up was Gene Holweger. This was due to a head injury sustained when his car slid off the snow-covered highway on the way to Newberg.

The Junior Varsity was also victorious in a preliminary game with the Newberg Juniors. The final score was 48-37. The lineups of the varsity game were:

OCE	Pacific C.
Smith, 12	F 2, Armstrong
Hiebert, 11	F 8, Smith
Palmer, 14	C Thompson
Mattison, 4	G 1, Faber
McKee, 11	G 9, Booth

Subs: OCE, Buckley 11, Schultz, Wilson 4, Hamer, Humble; Newberg, Hadley 9, Ralphs 2, Antrim 2.

Smith Hailed as Outstanding Forward

One of the outstanding reasons for many of the OCE victories the last three years has been the fighting spirit and the score-making ability of Bob Knox's right forward, Harrel Smith. Harrel was also a star on the Reedsport basketball squad when he attended high school there.

Since coming to OCE he has not only made a name for himself as an athlete but has also joined the ranks of the happily married. He now resides at Vets'

Village with his wife, the former Vivian Lahti from Astoria.
